

Bank of China Limited 2008 Interim Report - BOCG Investment

7 Dec, 2008

BOCG Investment

The Bank engages in direct investment and investment management through BOCG Investment. In the first half of 2008, BOCG Investment steadily developed its business while adapting to changes in market conditions, and it earned a profit attributable to the equity holders of the Bank of HKD0.704 billion (or RMB0.634 billion).

In the first half of 2008, BOCG Investment conducted its direct investment business in a prudent manner and invested in a variety of corporate equities. Despite adverse conditions in the distressed assets market, BOCG Investment enlarged the sources for different projects by adopting various innovative investment models. It also expanded its property investments through the segmentation of different markets and products. BOC Aviation, a subsidiary of BOCG Investment, developed steady and sustainable sources of lease revenue by taking advantage of market opportunities, thus maintaining its leading position in the Asian market.